IV. At MCM we want students to reach their goals through the quality of our teachers and our all-embracing passion for music. While we expect to inspire our students to embrace their pursuit of music study each day, we also want the student to join us in this endeavor by budgeting time for their music on a daily basis. By enrolling in private lessons at Maryland Conservatory of Music, you are joining a group of students, faculty, and staff who are going to build on your strengths to make your ability and appreciation for music grow and blossom.
